Fort William First Nation Addiction and Wellness Program

Potential Overdose Warning

If Naloxone kits are needed please contact your local Addiction Workers.

Don't use alone always have someone present.

There is a Good
Samaritan Drug
Overdose Act

For more information please contact:

Allie-Joe Pelletier:
AddictionsWorker@fwfn.com

Loretta Collins:
LorettaCollins@fwfn.com

There is a trend of both non-fatal and fatal overdoses being seen due to crack cocaine in Toronto area recently. It is due to limited supply of crack in the area, in order to increase the amount of product they are seeing a higher than normal amount of fentanyl in the supply. Many of the trends seen in Toronto (even though they may not be in area at present) can be seen a short time later in our city and community. We are issuing this statement as a warning. If you are using crack cocaine, use with other people around and keep Naloxone kits nearby.

If you suspect an opioid overdose, you should:

- Call 9-1-1 (or your local emergency help line) and stay at the scene
- Give naloxone, if you have it
- Know that the Good Samaritan Drug Overdose Act protects you from simple drug possession charges

Opioid Overdoses: What To Do .....

Opioids — like fentanyl, morphine, oxycodone, and hydromorphone — are medications that can help relieve pain. However, opioids are also available illegally. Illegal opioids are any opioids that are made, shared or sold illegally.

How can opioids cause an overdose?

Opioids affect how your brain controls your breathing. If you take more opioids than your body can handle, you will start to show signs and symptoms of an overdose, such as:

Slow, weak or no breathing

Blue lips or nails

Dizziness and confusion

Can't be woken up

Choking, gurgling or snoring sounds

Drowsiness or difficulty staying awake

Protect yourself from an overdose

If you use illegal opioids:

- don't mix them with alcohol, or other drugs
- don't use alone – stick with a friend
- know the signs of an opioid overdose
- carry a naloxone kit

If you witness an overdose, stay and help

Witnessing an overdose can be scary, as a person's breathing becomes weaker, shallower, or even stops completely. Overdoses are a medical emergency. Staying at the scene to help can save someone's life. If you've taken drugs, or have some on you, you are protected from simple drug possession charges by the Good Samaritan Drug Overdose Act. This law applies to the person who seeks help and anyone else at the scene when help arrives.

Overdoses can happen if you take:

- an opioid not prescribed for you
- more opioids than prescribed for you, such as a higher dose
- an opioid with alcohol or other drugs (e.g., anxiety medication, muscle relaxants, or sleeping pills)
- an opioid that has been tampered with (e.g., broken or crushed)
- illegally produced or obtained opioids

If you have stopped taking opioids for a while and start taking them again, you can be at risk of an overdose because your body is not used to the drug anymore.

If you suspect an opioid overdose, you should:

- ✓ Call 9-1-1 (or your local emergency help line) and stay at the scene
- ✓ Give naloxone, if you have it
- ✓ Know that the Good Samaritan Drug Overdose Act protects you from simple drug possession charges

WAASIGAN TRANSMISSION LINE

Powering northwestern Ontario is an important part of Hydro One's past and future. We live and work in the north and focus every day on delivering a safe and reliable supply of electricity to local homes and businesses.

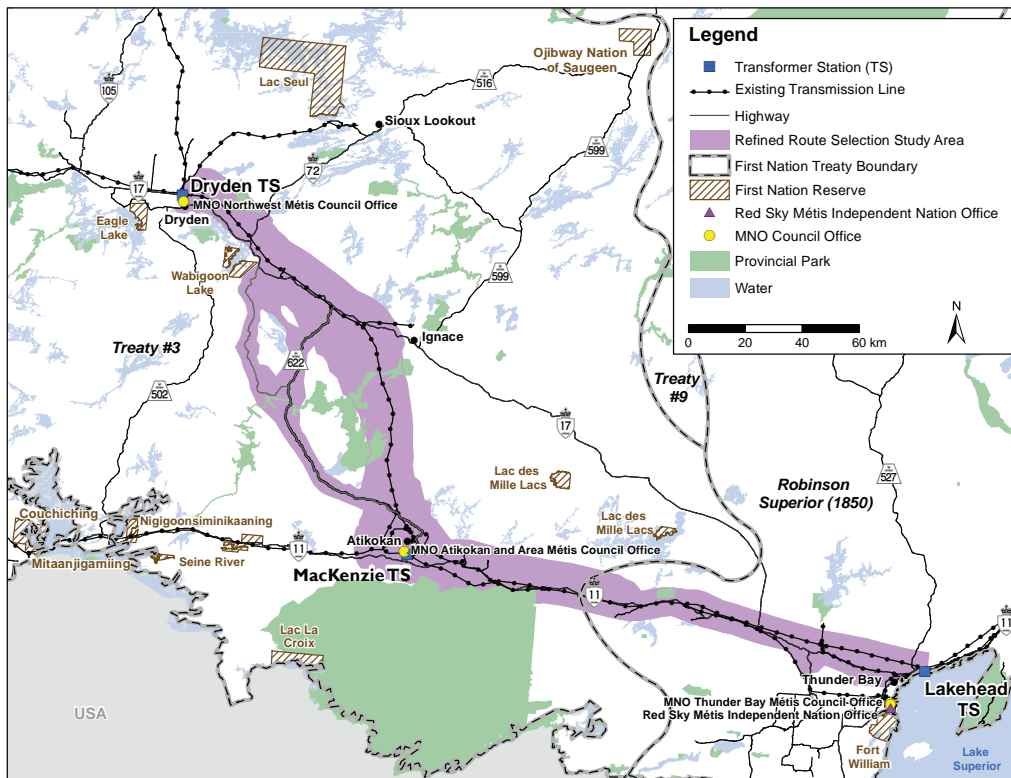

In April 2019, Hydro One initiated an Environmental Assessment for the Waasigan Transmission Line, a proposed new transmission line between Thunder Bay, Atikokan and Dryden. Waasigan is an Ojibwe word for "bringing power".

With more than 70 years of history building the electrical backbone of northwestern Ontario, Hydro One understands what it means to be a community partner. Building the Waasigan Transmission Line will create opportunities for long-term social and economic benefits to the communities we serve.

WAASIGAN TRANSMISSION LINE

- Since we last met, we have advanced work on the Terms of Reference, which is the first step of the Environmental Assessment (EA). Updated information and mapping, including a narrated project update presentation and the refined route selection study area, are available on the project website www.HydroOne.com/Waasigan.
- The EA will determine the preferred route for a new double-circuit 230 kilovolt transmission line between Lakehead Transformer Station (TS) and Mackenzie TS, and a new single-circuit 230 kilovolt transmission line between Mackenzie TS and Dryden TS, as shown on the map below.
- We are completing the EA planning and development work now, to ensure that capacity is ready when it's needed.
- Hydro One is committed to powering economies and connecting communities in northwestern Ontario. We recognize the potential that exists and believe in supporting growth in the region.
